BUSINESS MEN ORGANIZE

The Public Spirited Men of Redcliff Organize a Commercial Club.

A meeting of the business men of Redcliff was held last Friday night for the purpose of organizing a Commercial Club. About 25 of the leading citizens were in attendance. The meeting was called to order by Mr. P. M. Pearce who stated that 29 signatures had been secured for the proposed club and that practically enough money was in sight for the purpose of furnishing club rooms. After a little discussion it was decided to organize and elect officers, and the following were chosen:

President, H. O. Wheeler.
First Vice President, P. M. Pearce.
Second Vice President, F. F. Woodcock.
Secretary, F. F. Woodcock.
Treasurer, H. M. Sampson.
Directors, E. C. Danold, chairman, Dr. E. W. Brown, David Lloyd, J. L. Landt, Don McLaughlin, L. H. Bryant, James Merry, E. F. Hurd, W. H. Sherwin, E. H. Sellhorn, Dr. R. R. Stoner and George Lydell.

On motion the president was empowered to appoint the following committee:

House Committee, Sampson, F. F. Woodcock, Broadfoot, Merry, Hurd, Sherwin and Dr. Brown.
Finance Committee, Sampson, Woodcock, Sellhorn, Danold and McLaughlin.
Membership Committee, F. F. Woodcock, Stoner, Sherwin, McLaughlin and Dr. Brown.

On motion the membership fee fixed at $15 until January 1st, after which it is to be $25. The dues was made $12 a year for resident members and $6 for non-residents.

It was decided to rent the hall in the building opposite the hotel and fit it up for club rooms.
The club starts off well and will undoubtedly be a success, which will give our business men a comfortable place to spend their leisure hours and afford a place to entertain visitors.

ASK CENTRAL FOR NO. 9

The telephone crew, who have been busy for several weeks installing a central telephone system here, practically finished their labors yesterday and we are rid of the nuisance that has bothered us so long. Redcliff can now boast of the most up-to-date telephone system in Alberta. The new central starts off with 50 subscribers and it is freely predicted that there will be 100 by the 1st of next June.

C. W. White has been appointed local manager and Miss Ethel White will have charge of the switchboard, and will be on duty from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. Until there are 70 subscribers we will only have a 12 hour service.

A toll of 10 cents will be charged on Medicine Hat calls for three-minute service.
The Review's call is No. 9, and those wishing to report pink teas or prize fights will please call up that number.

NEW RESTAURANT FOR SOUTH TOWN

A much needed innovation will be inaugurated at the lower end of town this week by the opening of an up to date restaurant on First street, a little south of the Walker house and just about opposite Maple hall. Such a large number of working men are now living in the district that this new eating place will be a perfect boon to the public. Two young men, Clyde Thompson and Charlie Poorman are the partners in the new business venture and success should attend their prospect. Ordinary meals will be given at the usual hours and special orders will be a special feature.

START BUILDING OPERATIONS

Work Was Started This Morning on the Foundations of the Glass Plants

Mr. George Lydell and J. M. Scott, of the Diamond Flint Glass Company, arrived in Redcliff Monday and immediately set about making preparations for the construction work on their factories here and this morning J. H. Gibbs and a crew of men started the excavation work.

Mr. Lydell informed the Review that the work would be pushed just as fast as the weather will permit.

Mr. Scott will have charge of the construction work and on the completion of the work on the bottle works will become superintendent of the plant.

Arrangements have been made for the building of 20 houses and work will be commenced on them very soon.

About 75 more houses will be needed but 20 will give them a good start.

Mr. Lydell will return east for the holidays but shortly thereafter will pack up his household effects and have them shipped to Redcliff and on their arrival will send for his family.

McLaughlin & McLean are pushing the work on the Lydell residence and expect to have it finished by the 1st of February.

The work of surveying for the spruce tract has been completed and their construction will be commenced shortly.

The company expect to be making glass here by the middle of April.

NEW MARKET OPENS SATURDAY

Mrs. Marguerette Lynch will open her new meat market on Broadway tomorrow morning, which is something that has been needed in this end of town for some time. The place will be in charge of Mr. Lynch, who has had several years' experience in the meat business, and will be glad to have the public call and look over their place.

COUNCIL HOLDS TWO MEETINGS

The town council met last Monday night and after the reading of the minutes of the previous meetings, the regular routine was taken up. The mayor being out of town, the acting mayor, Dr. Brown, took the chair.

Mr. Henderson, Sr. made a written application to the council for the position of secretary-treasurer which is to become vacant Jan. 1st. A motion was made and carried that the town solicitor be notified to be present at the council meetings.

A motion was passed calling on the secretary-treasurer to make a demand for the old village books from the late village secretary-treasurer.

The council then adjourned to meet Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock to meet the representatives of the glass companies.

At the meeting Tuesday evening the council met the glass company representatives and after two or three questions were brought up and discussed a motion was made that the town engineer be appointed to a litter of one to confer with the glass representatives regarding the closing of certain streets and that he report back to the council.

NEAT LITTLE SURPRISE PARTY

The members of Quarry Lodge, A. F. & A. M., and their ladies gave a surprise party last Tuesday evening by calling on Mr. and Mrs. A. McColeman at their home on First street south.

The party assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sinclair and from their went in a body to the McColemans residence, where they were received in a very hospitable manner by Mr. and Mrs. Coleman. After a short time spent in conversation, a lunch was served, after which several of those present were called upon to respond to toasts.

After several toasts had been responded to, Mr. A. J. Nicholson, the master of Quarry Lodge, in a neat speech presented Mr. and Mrs. McColeman, on behalf of the members of the lodge, with a beautiful cut glass water set as a wedding present.

Mr. and Mrs. McColeman responded on behalf of Mrs. McColeman and himself, thanking the donors for the remembrance. The following were those present: Mr. and Mrs. R. Stoner, Mr. and Mrs. J. Rutherford, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. James Sinclair, Miss Tonnie Lavelle, Messrs. A. J. Nicholson, W. Wain Henderson, Sr., Steven Barry and W. H. Hatcher.

OPEN DITCH CLAIMS VICTIM

An accident which might have had much more serious results occurred on Saturday night about 8:30. William Anderson, who is employed in the shale mine of the Brick & Coal Company, when returning home from the upper portion of town where he had been making some purchases, on reaching the lower part of First street and when nearly opposite Maple Hall, went to step off the sidewalk to cross over the street to the west sidewalk, but instead of his foot finding a solid footing in the road, he crashed unexpectedly into an open ditch which was leading into a new shack which has just been erected.

With the utmost difficulty and suffering much pain, the unfortunate fellow managed to roll himself from his dangerous position where he was picked up by friendly hands and carried into Clyde Thompson's shack. Dr. Brown was summoned and after an examination of the injured man the doctor found that two of Anderson's ribs were cracked, and after being bandaged up he was taken to his quarters in the company's bunk house.

WANT TO SAY ABOUT REDCLIFF

Redcliff is situated on the main line of the C. P. R., 173 miles east of Calgary, on the banks of the Saskatchewan river.

Natural gas is probably Redcliff's first and greatest asset—meeting the requirements of as great a demand as may be made for manufacturing purposes.

Working coal mines on both sides of the river, and immense deposits cropping out yet unexplored.

Brick and other clay products are manufactured extensively, an immense deposit of shale being found near by.

Slits made abundant, tests of which have proven an excellent quality for glass making.

Industrial sites are donated to new enterprises.

The business houses and residences are practically all of brick—house products.

Surrounding territory is to the west of Alberta's wheat belt, and there are no more prosperous farmers in the world than here.

REDFLIF ALREADY HAS
Two plants for making brick and clay products, the demand for which is increasing constantly.

A large ornamental iron works and foundry employing 20 men, and will enlarge their plant the coming year.

A flour mill that will grind 20,000 bushels of wheat per month or 100,000 bushels per year.

A fine three-story modern brick hotel at the heart of the town, and there are no more prosperous farmers in the world than here.

Three lakes—Tupper, McChesney and Royal.

A fine new, thoroughly modern brick school house.

A good system of water works—water pure as the mountain springs.

An excellent gas lighting system, and mains laid throughout the town.

One Protestant Church.

There is in course of construction. Two large glass plants, one for making bottles and glass ware, and the other for making window glass.

A large iron rolling mill and bolt works.

Another large pressed brick plant.

A large motor-truck factory, the first factory of that kind to be built in Western Canada.

"Kathleen," said Aunt Sarah, using a conventional phrase for introduction, "have you met Mr. Wilkins?" Both Mr. Wilkins and Miss Cummings smiled.

"I should think I have," said the latter.

There was no race among the girls for Mr. Wilkins. Kate Cummings was a walkover, and when the others heard the story of their meeting all vowed that Kate had chosen Halloween to show her friends her future husband. And they were right.

Where the Fish Bite.

A traveling salesman while in Chicago was invited to a party given by a friend. During supper stories were called for, and he told the following:

Two fishermen were fishing one day on a lake. One of them had a fish on a hook, but the other threw his line far out and, pulling to, he got a strike. After fishing awhile he finally landed a fine fish. "Welcome," said the first fisherman, "to the place in the lake to fish; we will join you mark it." And he cut a notch in the side of the boat.

The second fished, and the story telling was resumed.

There was one Englishman who kept laughing all the time during the rest of the party. When the traveling salesman came up to the traveling salesman and said: "I was just thinking the story you told. It was such a funny story. I have never before heard such a funny story before. You think, if they had got the wrong boat, they would have never known where to fish."—Melancholic Monthly.

Two Jokes From Italy.

A lady testifying in court, was asked her age, replied, "Oh, between thirty-five and fifty."

"There's some difference," said the president ironically. "Don't you know your own age?"

"Excellency," replied the witness, "I count exactly my money, my wardrobe and my clothes because some of them might rob me of them. But as no one can steal from me at night or even a day I do not bother to reckon them."

Chesapeake Bay.
Few people fully appreciate the great size of the Chesapeake Bay. It is the largest indentation on the Atlantic coast of America. It has been called the "Mediterranean of America." On its bay on the navies of the world could run at float. It is 200 miles long, and in some places it is forty miles broad. It has an area of over 2,000 square miles. It shoots off into great rivers with aggregate length of thousands of miles.—Baltimore American

Control of Bacteria Essential in Pr

First get clean milk and cream and handle them under clean conditions. The cleaner the conditions under which the milk is produced and handled, the manufacture of butter the less trouble there will be from undesirable growths. Second, since milk and cream always contain some objectionable bacteria effort must be made to suppress these as far as possible during the ripening of the cream. This is done by adding lactic acid bacteria to the cream in the form of pure culture usually spoken of as starters.

The Holstein cow Valdeana Scott II, recently completed a seven day record, in which time she produced 61.1 pounds of milk, 13.60 pounds of fat, 4.77 pounds of butter, 30 percent fat. She has also completed a thirty day record, producing 1,989 pounds of milk, 13.64 pounds of fat and 154.77 pounds of butter. This wonderful cow was bred by S. B. Hardy, Owensco, Mich., and was born Feb. 24, 1934. She is owned by Bernhard Meyer of Riverside Farm, Findlay, N. J.

Butter suffers when the cream is overworked. A large amount of butter that is made during the summer months is injured in quality by scumming of the cream.

All cream should be strained before being churned. This removes the possibility of white specks in the butter, which usually consist of curd or buttermilk particles of cream. The granules are also removed and the granules are about half the size of a pea. When less than this it is difficult to remove the buttermilk and to distribute the water. When smaller some of the fine granules are liable to pass out with the buttermilk. The percentages of water in butter are two or three per cent.

In washing the butter one washes in which as much water is used as there was cream, is usually sufficient. Too much washing removes that most desired, delicate flavor of the butter.

Colic in Horses.
As to the treatment for colic horses, give in ordinary cases a pint raw linseed oil, one ounce of turpentine and one ounce of laudanum or half one ounce of fluid extract of cannabis indica, rectal injections of soapy water and glycerin and lose no time getting the trained veterinarian if the attack proves obstinate. The less horse treatment given for enteritis and stenosis the better will be the chance of success in professional treatment.

Grading Brings Results.

One important feature of the Nova Scotia apple business this year is the toning up of its quality by the government United Fruit companies of Nova Scotia are doing. In the past it was impossible to get two uniform packages of apples from the same orchard. This year all of the co-operative associations will be fully half of the applicant out of the Annapolis Valley, being done under the supervision of inspectors employed by the companies.

By the way, Mr. Holt did not give any Canadian illustrations.

Lacrosse is Spreading.

Lacrosse, the national game of Canada, is rapidly becoming a world wide sport. The Britisher has scattered cricket and association football wherever he has settled.

On the other hand, lacrosse is played not by Canadian residents in foreign lands, but by teams composed of natives in the United States, Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Japan and the like.

RAISING BEEF CATTLE

It is claimed that farmers will not undertake to raise beef cattle on high-priced land, because of the belief that it cannot be made profitable. With alfalfa, which will grow on most localities in the corn belt states, and by the use of the silo for the preservation of the entire crop of corn instead of only 90 per cent of it, as under present methods, and by the use of a good grade of cattle, particularly of herd breeders, the corn belt farmer is assured of abundant and profitable results as well as the preservation of his soil fertility, without which no system of agriculture can be made permanent or even of a long duration.

PREPARE FOR NEXT SPRING.

Ground Plowed in the Autumn is Easier to Handle the Coming Year.

I find that sod ground broken in the fall is easier to work up in good shape with disk harrows in the spring than that which is freshly plowed in the spring, says a correspondent of Farm Progress. The furrow slices will be better settled down and easier to cut up with the disk than when it is just plowed in the spring and the furrow slices are loose and easy to be thrown about by disks without cutting them

Ground limestone can be spread quite evenly with an ordinary manure spreader. Cover the bottom of the spreader with some coarse cheap cloth (old sacks will do, letting them lap, leaving it loose so it can roll under and back with-mowing bed, tacking it at each end and probably in center). Gear the grader at its lowest rate, which is four loads per acre. Spread one bottom of quantity of lime (meal over bottom of spreader and it will be scattered quite nicely.—Hurst, New York.

THE SUPPLANTER

A Modern Romance

By WILMOT KAYE

Have you seen Miss Stafford?

He asked, inquisitively, but she still maintained silence.

I don't know why you have taken up this attitude towards me, but I have always treated you with kindness, and I have.

Why did you not at once tell the truth to Mr. Clay? You have known it for some time.

I only suspected. I had no evidence, and it is a delicate matter. I hinted it to you, as soon as I dared. Let me see the paper I signed, she demanded suddenly.

I haven't it with me. It is at the club.

What was it?

Merely formal—instructing me to act for you.

What was to be your reward?

We won't talk of that. You are very ungrateful to treat me in this hostile way. You may yet have need of my help.

Hilda laughed harshly. She was putting to examine what the man had in his mind. All his old distrust had returned, and she was determined to keep her guard with him, and to speak no word more than was absolutely necessary.

By the way, when Mr. Seymour has asked, I called him a scoundrel, but he did not say when he was returning.

What did you call for?

Merely to discuss your affairs with him. He has returned, and I don't know, replied Hilda. I told him that you had not returned to act for you.

You had no business to say that, she said angrily. I am not at all sure that I shall owe a penny of this money.

Are you quite mad? he cried in amazement.

What share do you intend to take for the trouble you have taken in this? I intended to leave it to your generosity. It is not like an ordinary piece of business.

And you would expect an extraordinary reward? I could not expect that.

I have to say.

She was greatly tempted to let him labor under his misapprehensions, for she secretly saw that he did not know that there had been an explanation between Hilda and himself.

I am sure that you would not say things that you might afterwards regret.

Perhaps it will interest you to know that Miss Grant, the wife of your friend, he said quietly.

I know that, and she has forgiven me, Vera replied.

That shows a very friendly spirit, he said with an effort. But don't think that you got unpunished. It appears to me that you have been very unkind to Mr. Clay now. I shall have great pleasure in informing him at the earliest possible moment.

You cannot see him, Hilda said quickly. You will not let him know that he is disturbed.

But this is of such great importance that I must run the risk of annoying the doctor. Such a criminal as Miss Stafford should not be allowed to remain at large. She is a danger to society, in the public interest, I must.

You will do nothing, Hilda said triumphantly.

What is it to you?

Don't you know, Vera broke in. The man is not to be trusted. He is a villain. He has been trying to force money out of me, as the price of his silence. He is the greater danger to society.

You or I? she asked, with biting contempt.

I begin to see, Hilda said reflectively, but she did not wait Mr. Clay to be worried. Couldn't we wait Mr. Clay to be worried? He is a danger to society, in the public interest, I must.

I fear that you will find his greed in the end.

How much do you want, Hilda asked.

Now clutched at the straw, for he had seen his hopes vanishing.

A large sum, he said.

FRIDAY, DEC. 6, 1912.

LOCALETTES

By Paul Roy, Jr.

The stock was around last Friday and left a little daughter at the home of Ray Tople. Papa is now the whole cheese on the nursing staff and can do the night shift like a veteran.

The woman who has a beautiful husband has nothing to rave over. This bird, like remark, has no bearing, however, on the preceding paragraph.

A chunk of the Mc Basano dam collapsed Friday last, damage $20,000. Damn!

Chief Hatcher, of the Medicine Hat gre brigade, got great praise from the News for his fight the flames on Monday. The Hat must do something to keep in the public eye. By the way, our editor's name is also Hatcher, and doesn't need any blooming fire to boost Redcliff.

Bill Henderson was a close prisoner to the house last week. Grippe was the disease. The antidote was labeled green, but not poison.

Chief Ben Kirk had his first baptism of rough house on Monday night, and displayed splendid courage and discrimination. His prisoner, who got off lightly with a fine of over 60 bones, had better take a big thick to himself and get on the water wagon. Such displays of gross ignorance and a brutal nature are not wanted in Redcliff and such characters are to be classed as undesirable. This town don't want them.

Bill Henderson's dog "Rover" was on a tear of his own during his master's illness.

Bill Anderson, who did the disappearing act on Saturday night into an open ditch on First street and got a couple of ribs cracked is doing well. Oh, you feel lamed!
